Horrible Diseases.
How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.
Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs confused vision, blunted intellect loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should have a cure effected by him new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco q[illegible]

After a brief discussion about the order of nominations the convention decided to begin with governor. The nominations were John Lee Carroll and William T. Hamilton. The ballot for governor resulted Carroll 60 Hamilton 59. The vote was then made unanimous. Loren Wolford of Somerset was nominated by acclamation for comptroller of the treasury. J M Gainne, of Baltimore was nominated for attorney general. The nominees addressed the convention. A platform was adopted, the financial plank of which firmly opposes any inflation of currency and favors the resumption of specie payments at the earliest moment possible. The convention adjourned sine die.

The following platform was adopted unanimously.

We hereby declare unfaltering devotion to the cardinal principles of republican government as enunciated by Thomas Jefferson, the preservation of the general government in its whole constitutional vigor, as the sheet anchor of our peace at home and safety abroad. Supremacy of civil over military authority. Economy in public expense that labor may be lightly burdened. Honest payment of our debts and sacred preservation of the public faith, arraignment of all abuses at the bar of public reason, freedom of religion and the press and of person under protection of the habeas corpus and of trial by jury impartially selected.

Resolved That we protest against the burdens of a high protective tariff as needless exactions from a people already intolerably oppressed by a gigantic national debt, and we insist that the tariff be so regulated as to provide only sufficient revenue for general uses, and not for the purpose of enriching the few at the expense of the many; that we protest against the multiplication of federal officers and assignment to them of unusual high salaries and abuse of federal patronage which tends to the States and corrupt free institutions that agriculture, manufactures and commerce should be the equal care of well regulated government. Of the members of them, to-day should be removed but no favoritism should be extended to either at the expense of others; that labor and capital are mutually dependent and equal. Justice demands that legislation as far as practicable should harmonize them, and prevent one from oppressing or obtaining undue advantages over the other. That we protest against the increase of circulating currency, and demand such measures by congress as will result in the resumption of specie payment at the earliest possible moment. We are opposed to granting subsidies to monopolies.

Some of the Causes of Fisher's Dismissal

WASHINGTON July 22—The removal of District Attorney Fisher is merely a matter of time; it takes place on the return of his successor ex Gov Wells. He sought an interview last night with the president but did not see him. The Sun says among the numerous charges against Fisher is one that he conducted negotiations for the government in the transfer of property necessary for the extension of the capitol grounds with losses almost in excess of it. It is charged by property holders that Fisher although a United States officer and acting for the government as purchaser made them pay for his services in making a deed in prices ranging from $50 to $100 each. It now appears that all lots on the enlarged grounds have been assessed in the names of previous owners and are charged to them. In other words no notice is taken of the government's occupancy of heretofore private property. This could only have arisen either from a failure to record deeds or show glaring defalcations and errors in the District plat book. The government has no official record of being owner of its own estate

Some Excitement in the House of Commons.

LONDON July 22—In the House of Commons this afternoon Mr Disraeli announced that the government had abandoned the merchant shipping bill for this session. He expressed the hope that the session would be closed on the 10th or 12th of August and possibly earlier

Mr Plimsoll made a speech in which he violently attacked the government saying the consequence of the abandonment of the bill would be the destruction of thousands of lives. He spoke vehemently and excitedly used extraordinary epithets, stamped his feet and gesticulated wildly, starting the house in an uproar

Mr Disraeli moved that Plimsoll be removed from the house

The Speaker ordered Plimsoll to withdraw and he went out shaking his fists at the government bench. The house then considered what action was proper to take in regard to Plimsoll's conduct. Several speakers urged his excitability as an excuse for his offense. The debate on the subject was adjourned until Thursday next.

LONDON July 22—The scene in the House of Commons this afternoon caused by the violent speech of Plimsoll was unparalleled. Plimsoll first earnestly implored the government not to send thousands of persons to undeserved and unhallowed graves through the conduct of ship owners of murderous tendencies. Upon being called to order he advanced to the table and gave notice that he would ask on Tuesday next, whether certain vessels which had been lost entailing great sacrifice of life, belonged to Mr Bates member for Plymouth. Plimsoll added that he was determined to unmask the villains. In reply to the Speaker he said he applied that expression to members of the house and refused to withdraw it.

Sullivan after Plimsoll had left the chamber apologetically hinted that he was momentarily insane

Mr Bates subsequently made a personal explanation in regard to the remarks of Plimsoll concerning himself. He acknowledged he had lost four or five ships during the last two years but said they were well equipped and classed A No 1 at Lloyds and were only insured for part value. He expressed pity for Plimsoll who he said was not responsible for his actions

Smith of Rathbone protested against the government's course and declared that the suspense and uncertainty which would be produced by the withdrawal of the merchant shipping bill would be injurious to shipping interests.

"If you'll stay, mother won't dare lick me—if you don't she'll make me hop." It was affecting to see his mother lift him to her knee kiss him repeatedly and blandly inform the ladies that it was only his cute way.

THE MOUNTAIN MEADOWS MASSACRE.

Confession of John D. Lee

BEAVER July 20—The California associated press reporter is enabled by W W Bishop attorney for John D Lee to give the following details of the confession of Lee, which sets out the character of the whole which is very lengthy. Mr Bishop said that when he got to Beaver he found the excitement against Lee great. People believed he should be sacrificed to appease the moloch of the hour. He believed he could not get a fair trial in Utah and consented that his client should turn State's evidence and get immunity from his acts. The prosecution agreed to enter a nolle pros, as to the first indictment absolutely, Lee to take his chances as to future indictments. After a long consultation with associate counsel he agreed to it also if the confession proved satisfactory they would dismiss all kinds of indictments against Lee. After Lee made his confession the prosecution found it did not implicate high church authorities also those in brief authority in Iron military district so they refused to accept the statement, believing Bishop presumes they could by trying Lee procure testimony reaching nearer the apostolic center. So they disregarded their agreement and placed Lee on trial. Lee's statement opens as follows

It now becomes my painful though imperative duty to chronicle circumstances that led to the unfortunate affair, known as the Mountain Meadows Massacre, in Utah Territory, which has been shrouded in mystery for 15 years causing much comment, excitement and vindictive feeling throughout the land. The entire blame rests upon the Mormon people in Utah. Now in justice to humanity I feel it my duty to show up the facts as they exist according to the best of my ability though I may implicate myself by so doing. I have no vindictive feeling whatever against any man or class of individuals. What I do is done from a sense of duty to myself to my God and to the people at large so that the truth may come to light and the blame rest where it properly belongs. I have been arrested on the charge of being engaged in the crime committed at the time and place referred to. I have been in close confinement over eight months since my arrest. I was in irons three months of the time during my confinement. For the last 17 years in fact since the commission of the crime, I have given the subject much thought and reflection. I have made an effort to bear my confinement with fortitude and resignation, well knowing that most of those engaged in the unfortunate affair were led on by religious influences commonly called fanaticism and nothing but their devotion to God and their duty to Him as taught them by their religion and their church leaders would ever have induced them to have committed the outrageous and unnatural acts

Believing that all who participated in the lamentable transaction or most of them, were acting under orders that they considered it their religious duty to obey I have suffered all kinds of ill treatment as well as imprisonment rather than expose these men knowing the circumstances as I do and believing in the sincerity of their motives as I always have done, but I have a duty to perform. I have since I was arrested become convinced that it was not the policy of the government or the wish of the court to punish these men but rather to protect them and let the blame rest on their leaders where it justly and lawfully belongs. After much thought and meditation I have come to the conclusion that I can not longer remain silent on this subject, but so far as I can must bring to light the circumstances connected with it and remove the cloud of mystery that has so long obscured the transaction and served to agitate the public mind. Believing it to be my duty as a man duty to myself, to my family, to my God and to humanity, to cast aside the shackles so long holding my conscience in silence and in pursuance of disinterested advice of my attorneys I now submit the facts as far as I know them, stating nothing from malice or purpose of revenge holding back nothing that I can state of my own knowledge willing that that the world may know all that was done and why the acts were committed. I submit the following as exact and unvarying statements of facts and circumstances connected with the crime known as the Mountain Meadows Massacre. The facts are as follows

At this point the pages of the confession relating to the massacre were refused to the reporters for the present but the character of them is permitted to be stated as follows. He gives at great length an alleged perfect and concise statement of acts and facts connected with the massacre giving the names of persons dates and places. He claims to fully expose all classes of men and every man connected with the outrage. He starts out with his first knowledge of the emigrant train following through their unfortunate experiences and conflicts up to the termination of their sad career. He describes all that was done by the murderers after the commission of the crime, and the action of all concerned with it also the action of Brigham Young and the high priesthood the acts of those in authority the disposition of the children saved and the particulars of their delivery to Dr Forney agent of the government who removed them to Missouri. In fact, the statement of Lee fully explains who for for what reason and how the tragedy was accomplished stating the justification relied upon by participants for the commission of that fearful crime. The details fix the crime upon Isaac C Haight and John M Higby commanding officers the former standing on an eminence and giving the signal agreed upon for the slaughter after the emigrants had been decoyed out of their stronghold by a flag of truce. The wounded had first been hauled out and were dispatched. There were thirty white men and a large number of Indians. The details of the killing of the men women and children surpass in horror all that has ever been written concerning the massacre and more terrible atrocious and bloody than the most vivid imagination could conjecture. St Bartholomew's day and the utmost barbarity of humanity absolutely pale before the sickening tale.

In conclusion Lee writes as follows. A few days after the massacre, I was instructed by Maj Isaac C Haight next in command to W H Dame in Iron military district to carry a report of what had been done to the President Brigham Young at Salt Lake City. He directed me to give him my report and stand up with manly courage and I shouldered the much blame as possible he saying to me if I did I should receive a celestial reward. This however is my nature never to lend burdens on others that I am not willing to bear myself. I then went to Salt Lake City and reported to Brigham Young the exact facts connected with the transaction shouldering a greater share of the responsibility than justly belonged to me. In justice to Brigham Young, I must say that when he heard my story he wept like a child walked the floor and wrung his hands in bitter anguish and said "This is a most unfortunate affair, the most unwarranted event that has ever happened to the Mormon people. This transaction will bring sorrow and trouble upon us in Utah. I would to God that it had never happened." After hearing this I returned home with a drooping heart and reported the result of my mission to those in authority over me

Lee says 17 children were saved and were delivered to Dr Forney who promised to send them to friends in Missouri and Nebraska. He says the massacre was the result of military orders. Utah then being under martial law by order of Brigham Young. Johnston's army being east in Echo Canyon and troops were expected from the west by way of California. The Mormon people were in a state of excitement and acted as desperation dictated. Attorney Bishop alleges Lee offered to give the prosecution the names of several of the murderers who could be found as he believes

A New Indictment against the Gang

BEAVER July 20—In the court this morning Judge Sutherland counsel for Dame said he had found a fatal defect in the indictment which he had intended to overlook in the trial upon it but finding that Lee's case would be first tried and Dame's would not be reached this term, he asked that the indictment be quashed upon the ground that the crime was not alleged to have been committed in this Territory or district nor in any county, but simply in Mountain Meadows Valley without any designation; whereupon Mr Carey also presented a new indictment which charges Lee Dame Elliott Wilder Wm C Stewart George Adair Jr John M Higby I C Haight, Samuel Jukes and Philip K Smith with conspiring with the Indians to kill those immigrants and that in pursuance to that conspiracy they did kill them. The indictment will not be made public till to-morrow noon at which time Lee will be arraigned and plead to it

Lee's Arraignment and Trial Proceed.

BEAVER July 21—In the Lee trial to-day Dame's counsel asked the court to decide on yesterday's motion to quash Dame's indictment. The court refused until Lee's case has been disposed of. Lee's counsel asked what was to be done with the first indictment against him. The prosecution refused to reply. Lee was then arraigned on the first count in the indictment charging him and seven others with conspiracy to murder and accomplishment thereof. His counsel put in as pleas in abatement that the first grand jury was improperly empanelled, as of the 23 persons drawn eight were discharged without cause three were drawn at large and the panel was finally made which was illegal, that the second indictment does not show, nor does the record that the indictment was presented by the grand jury in open court. The prosecution asked till 2 o'clock to reply, which was granted. At 2 o'clock the prosecution demurred to the pleas as to the grand jury and the court sustained the demurrer. A replication was filed as to the second plea, denying its truth. The court asked the parties to submit proof as to it. Each claimed that the other side had the affirmative and both refused to move first. The court said the defense had raised the matter, and hence had the affirmative, it refused to prove its charge therefore be overruled the plea. Lee then pleaded not guilty. The prosecution moved that the court make the records of the court conform to the fact that the indictment was presented in open court by the grand jury. The court made an order to that effect nunc pro tunc. The court said the indictment did not bear an endorsement of its presentation but was marked filed September 24th, and numbered 30. The minutes showed that no 30 was presented by the grand jury. He had always instructed the clerk not to put the names of indicted parties on record till they were arrested. He might just as well publish them in the newspapers. The defense feel sure that this matter will win their case in the supreme court

There is very general talk on the streets about the blunders of the Federal attorney. The first indictment proved worthless because it did not state where the crime was committed neither State, territory nor county. The second indictment was not endorsed by the clerk as presented and now exceptions are taken on which the defense declare they are willing to risk all to win

The court asked the prisoners if they were ready for trial. Dame asked to be tried jointly with Lee, for fear his trial would not be reached this term. The prosecution objected, and the court refused to order the joint trial, but said the cases should be tried this term and if they lasted to the last day he would ask the government to extend the trial till finished. Lee's counsel asked till to-morrow to decide if they were ready to go to trial on the conspiracy case. The court granted it, but said a very strong showing would be required to get any continuance. It is now believed the trial will go on to-morrow. The feeling in town is increasing against Lee. He appeared in court with three wives and two daughters. He seemed cool and collected. A stronger guard than usual is kept by the U S marshal. There are witnesses now here who could probably never be got together again. The attorneys for Lee and Dame to-night decided to answer that they will be ready to go on with the trial Thursday morning. New witnesses are constantly turning up

The Jury Empaneled.

BEAVER, July 22—Lee's trial for the Mountain Meadows massacre began to-day. The court room was crowded. The defense skirmished on every point. The jury was empaneled at 2 o'clock with three Gentiles and nine Mormons one of whom, D J Arthur is a son in law of Haight, who gave the order to fire on the emigrants, but has no opinion. Another, Robert Heyborne, is a step son of [illegible] who was engaged in the massacre but knows nothing of it. The Mormons examined as jurors would swear they had lived 10 to 15 years in the region of the massacre yet never heard it talked of, and had no opinions about it. This is the subject of much open comment and bitter feeling

The Central Pacific Taking the Rails of the California Pacific.

MARYSVILLE, July 22—The Central Pacific Railroad Company are carrying off rails from the line of the California Pacific Railroad. The county has $100 000 invested in the road and the Appeal this morning urges the propriety of taking legal steps to check the stealing of the county property. It claims that the company is fooling people with promises to rebuild the road, which it has repeatedly declared would not pay running expenses if in order

LOSS OF THE "SARANAC"

PROCEEDINGS OF THE COURT OF INQUIRY IN SESSION AT MARE ISLAND NAVY YARD

In accordance with orders from the secretary of the navy a court of inquiry to examine into the causes of the loss of the United States steamer Saranac convened at Mare island on Thursday 15th inst and organized as follows: Admiral John Rodgers president, Commodore J H Spotts Captain Paul Shirley members, Pay Inspector Caspar Schenck, judge advocate. After which the court adjourned until Friday at 10 o'clock and proceeded to the examination of witnesses. In taking the testimony the mode of procedure is similar to that used in court martial and all evidence is reduced to writing, thus making the examination a slow and tedious one. The first witness called was Lieutenant J J Brice, the navigating officer of the lost ship. His evidence in relation to the disaster does not differ materially from the account published in the Chronicle. He attributed the accident to an unmanageable helm, and the velocity and swiftness of the currents in Seymour narrows. At the conclusion of his evidence, which was read to him the witness expressed a desire to make a change but wished to do so in private, in compliance therewith the doors were closed and the court went into executive session. Next morning, when the court convened it was decided that reporters should be excluded for the reason that it would do little good to keep the witnesses separate if they were to read the testimony as published in the newspapers

THE BUELL CHANDLER LIBEL SUIT—St Louis July 8—The Chandler Buell libel case came up again in the United States district court here to-day on application of District Attorney Dyer for leave of removal to the District of Columbia, under a new indictment found by the grand jury in session in Washington. This new indictment raises an entirely new question of law in that it charges the alleged libelous publication to have been made in Washington by the act of filing the manuscript of the special dispatch to a Detroit newspaper in the Washington office of the Western Union Telegraph Company. No other complete act of publication is charged in the new indictment and the appearance of the alleged libel in the Detroit Free Press is only mentioned incidentally. The case will turn on the question whether or not the filing of a special dispatch in the office of a telegraph company constitutes publication in law

UP THE VALLEY

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Our surveying party, which left Portland on the 11th inst reached Roseburg, the last settlement on our route, on Wednesday following with no serious mishap. The road through the valley is in number one condition, even that portion of it between Oregon City and Aurora—so many years a terror to travelers on the early lines of stages,—unless we mention the enormous amount of dust. No difficulty is experienced in crossing streams on either of the State roads this side the river, as all are well bridged, in most part with Smith's patent truss, all free. The commissioners are planning for rebuilding the bridge across the Molalla between Canby and Aurora, which has been repeatedly carried off by high water. The railway for horse and hand cars, which did many years of good service for the old P T Co is being torn away being no longer safe. A new plank walk will be laid instead. A marked feature in the improvement of transportation facilities is the absence of the long trains of freight wagons which formerly dotted the highway at intervals, all the way from Portland to the Umpqua.

Hay harvest is nearly over. Preparations are being made for reaping the largest grain harvest ever raised in one season in the Wallamet valley. A few more weeks of fine weather is all that is now required. Every available spot of land seems to have been put in wheat, notwithstanding the prices offered last year would not more than pay for raising and marketing. A large amount of last year's wheat is still on the farmers' hands, those only having sold who were obliged to meet expenses. Harvesting implements of the most improved kinds are being conveyed daily to different points ready for use. The "Russel Thresher" seems to be the favorite this season, as it was in California last year. The "Granger Wagon," manufactured by the Moline Company, takes the lead in Linn county. Over one hundred of these wagons arrived per one invoice, and were consigned to farmers in the vicinity of Albany

Salem is taking a summer's rest, seemingly, preparatory to her active fall trade. Albany is certainly the most active little city of its size on the northwest coast. Its streets are busy at all seasons. It would even now be a formidable rival to Salem were it not that the State capital and Fair grounds are located at the latter place. More grain is shipped here than at any other point in Oregon south of Portland. They have now nine monstrous warehouses. Dwelling houses were in great demand last spring to accommodate new arrivals. About twenty five new buildings, public and private, are in process of erection. The Episcopalian and Southern Methodist denominations have new church edifices nearly completed. Tangent and Halsey are also becoming considerable grain marts

Spring sown grain, by reason of the long rains in April and May, is very backward but looks well. Winter wheat in many places is nearly ready to cut. There is less flax raised this year than one would expect from the quotations of prices. The principal reason for this is the cultivation of flax is very exhaustive to the soil. I was told that back near the foot-hills it receives more attention. Crops in Lane county generally are light.

The State university building, at Eugene City a three-story brick with basement story, remains yet in an unfinished state. The $30,000 appropriation by the legislature, and a large additional sum subscribed by the citizens of Lane county, has been expended, and the erection of the building is nearly completed. The grangers have now taken the matter in hand of raising the deficiency, arrangements having been made whereby their subscriptions are payable in wheat.

The improvement made in farmers' residences during the last ten years is quite noticeable. Handsome cottage dwellings, costing from $2 000 to $2 500 are the rule—a result of easy transportation and good agricultural machinery

I failed to observe the want of information on the part of the people along the route, mentioned by Mrs. Miller and others traveling through the valley, relative to distances, directions, etc, or anything else that reflected adversely on the intelligence of those living in the farming districts. There is undoubtedly great room for improvement in regard to fences door yards and other little matters of taste which so distinctly mark the difference between the eastern and western farmer. The live-stock, too seems to be in most part the same old run out breeds

The Yaquina bay railroad question is being agitated considerably in some quarters. The settlers all along the route of the proposed Winnemucca road are highly elated over the prospects. The best claims, even far up in the mountains near Summit springs, are held at extravagantly high figures

At Harrisburg we met a part of Durham's prospecting-company, which left Portland last April for Southern Oregon. They designed turning Rogue river from its channel, but when they had made an estimate of the amount of labor and capital necessary the project was abandoned. GILHAM

EXTRAVAGANCE IN PUBLIC PRINTING.

[From the Chicago Times.]

WASHINGTON, July 12—There is an abuse of the public money in the management of the engineers' bureau of the war department that will call for the special attention of the coming congress. Gentlemen of this bureau have a disregard for the dissemination of the information collected by them, at a great expense to the government, that can hardly be accounted for upon the score of official modesty. Congress makes every year a liberal appropriation for the publication of documentary reports of information collected by the elegant fellows who do the kid glove business for the war department. These reports comprise military survey statistics and army geological reports of the records of western explorations of the army. There is a great demand for statistical food of this sort from the scientific minds of the country, but this demand is ill supplied. The appropriation is large enough to supply any reasonable demand, but the misuse of the funds of the department devoted to this purpose has made it difficult for any one to get hold of these reports without employing as much political influence as would be necessary to secure appointment to a first-class clerkship. The reason of this is shown in the following management of the funds. Only one fifth of the money appropriated is used for the purpose intended namely that of getting out cheap copies for the masses. The other four fifths of the appropriation are used in getting up elegant copies of the reports for the use of the officers of the bureau their friends, and congressmen in good administration standing. All of the arts of most extravagant ornamentation are called into requisition in preparing these special reports. There is now in preparation, at the government printing office a work on the resources of the Yellowstone that will cost $35 a volume for its actual publication. There is no authority in the law for any such extravagant work. The government printing house is a hot bed that encourages this sort of illegal luxury of official publication and there is a good prospect that this office will be abolished by the next congress or at least a vigorous attempt will be made.

"GO 'WAY DAR"—In this town there is an old lymphatic negro who has wonderful large feet and is always ready to take a rest. One day while lying upon the cabin floor slumbering, with his feet presented to the glimmering light, he opened one eye a little and getting a glimpse of the dark objects he mistook them for two little negroes and cried out, "Get 'fum fore me, I say! I kick you in de fire if you don't—I will shuah!" and again he snored. His dreams not being pleasant he finally opened both eyes and still seeing the pests, he drew up his feet for the threatened kick, but alarmed to see the enemy advance upon him, he bellowed out, "Wha-war you comin' to now? Go 'way dar!"—Augusta Standard.

ARCTIC EXPLORATION

The London Times of June 28 has the following: "The screw schooner-yacht Pandora, Capt. Allen Young, which has been fitted out at Southampton for a private expedition to the Arctic Circle, steamed round from Southampton Water on Friday evening, and was beached alongside the jetties in Portsmouth Dockyard. Her arrival was unexpected, and there was nothing in her appearance to distinguish her from an ordinary pleasure yacht. It was not until the following day, therefore, that the news of her arrival spread, and the dock yard gates became crowded with eager applicants for admission. The expedition, however, being a private one, and Capt. Young having from the first declined to be made the subject of popular demonstration, there was no relaxation of the ordinary rule governing admission into the yard. No one could gain an entrance who had not some business to transact, some official to see, or who did not belong to the service. The purpose of Capt. Young in coming to Portsmouth was to bid good by to his former superior officer of the Fox, now Rear Admiral McClintock and present Admiral Superintendent of Portsmouth Dockyard, and to receive the advantage of an inspection by him of his vessel. We need scarcely state that this was cordially granted. The Pandora, as has been previously stated in these columns, was originally built in 1861 as a naval dispatch vessel, and was purchased from the Government for a Polar expedition. She does not greatly differ from the Discovery either as regards shape, size, or rig; and though somewhat worn in places, the weak parts of her timbers have been strengthened by a number of sheathings of American elm, while her boilers and machinery generally have been thoroughly renovated. She has been well provisioned and equipped for her adventurous cruise, which may possibly last over eighteen months, though it is expected she will return earlier. She carries some of the sledges which formerly belonged to the Fox, and others have been constructed by Mr. White, of Cowes, who has also supplied her with six boats, the exact model of those built by the same gentleman for the Alert and Discovery. While her bunkers contain upward of 100 tons of coal, her decks are crowded with barrels of pork and provisions, and her hammock nettings and every conceivable space above and below have been converted into magazine stores. She is also well provided with scientific instruments, sounding apparatus, guns for seal hunting, boats and harpoons for whale chasing, &c. The Pandora carries once more to the region of perpetual ice the organ, originally the gift of the Prince Consort, which has frequently done its part to while away the tedium of a Polar winter, and which last performed service in the Fox during its successful voyage in search of the remains of the Franklin expedition. The ship's company of the Pandora consists of thirty-two souls, all told, and many of the crew are familiar with the special work which lies before them. The captain has earned for himself an honorable reputation as an Arctic explorer, and has given his name to a Polar headland. Mr. Toms was out with the captain in the Fox; the captain of the hold and the cook have battled with the ice before, while the interpreter is the veritable Esquimaux Joe, who followed Hall of the Polaris, up to 12° 16' north, and who believes that more information of the Franklin expedition is to be obtained by a further investigation of King William's Land, which the Pandora will attempt. In addition to Lieut. Lillingstone, who has withdrawn from the Royal Navy to accompany Capt. Young as his second in command, the following officers go out with the ship: Lieut. George Pirie a navigating Sub-Lieutenant of the Navy, Dr. Horner, who, besides attending to the health of the crew, will superintend the meteorological investigations, and Lieut. Baynan, of the Dutch navy, who will have charge of the botanical and marine researches. The Pandora sailed from Portsmouth at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. A small group—officers and dockyard employes principally—gathered round the jetty as the hawsers were let go and the steamer headed off into the stream, and "Good-by and a successful voyage," and "Good by and God bless you," were passed to and fro. There was no cheering at first, and it was not until one in the crowd thinking that something was omitted, gave a feeble hurrah that hats were taken off. This, however, was sufficient. The flag ship and the training ship took up the strain with a hearty three times-three. Southsea Beach and the pier, where a military band happened to be playing at the time, also gave the expedition a cheer as the ship steamed along the channel. The Pandora, which takes out a heavy mail for the Alert and Discovery at Disco, passed the Needles yesterday morning, and will probably stop for a few hours at Plymouth to-day.

On June 29 the Times says: "There was to sail from Sunderland Dock yesterday a small sloop named the Whim, bound to the Arctic seas and zone. It is under the command of Capt. Wiggins, of the merchant service, and is manned by five able seamen. The little vessel is twenty seven tons register, with a spencer and square sail on the mast proper, a small spencer sail at the stern, and the usual jibs. There is a saloon in miniature about 6 feet long by 5 feet wide and 5 feet deep, and the usual forecastle for the crew. Capt. Wiggins commanded an expedition to the Arctic seas last year, and he is of opinion that a valuable field for investigation and trade is open to the philanthropist and commercial adventurers among the scattered people who occupy Samoyede Land and northernmost Russia generally, and he and his crew go out in pursuit of further investigations in the direction indicated."

The success of the Arctic expedition says the Pall Mall Gazette of June 28 so much depends upon the weather in the high latitudes that any information on this point is of more than ordinary interest. A report received by the steamer Diana, which arrived at Granton three days ago from Iceland, states that the weather in the latitude of that island has been unusually boisterous and severe for the season. The whole of last winter was remarkably mild, there being seldom more than a few degrees of frost at any time. The spring also opened with more warmth than is generally felt in Iceland, but during the earlier part of the present month a sudden change took place, gale having succeeded gale, and snow falling to a considerable depth. The drift was also dangerous and in it one man at least lost his life. A Norwegian vessel was lost at Faroe. These characteristics of the weather are, however not considered unfavorable to the progress of the Arctic expedition, it being conjectured that the mild winter and spring, should it have extended northward, would check the massing of the ice, and the recent gales, although accompanied by a heavy fall of snow would be the means of breaking up any ice barriers which remained

The Daily Oregonian.

FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 23, 1875.

THE ONLY REAL RESPONSIBILITY.

How is a political party to be held responsible for the misdeeds of those it puts into office? It cannot be held pecuniarily responsible in the courts, as an individual can.—It can not be convicted criminally and imprisoned. It can not be reached by the sanctions of public sentiment, as an individual can. The only way in which a party can be held accountable for its wrong doing is by voting it out of power; that is, by defeating its candidates at the next election. Will some of the party organs, which are so strenuously urging the argument of party responsibility as a reason for supporting party tickets, be kind enough to inform us of any other way than those we have mentioned, in which party responsibility can be enforced? They will not attempt to do so. They will not pretend there is any other way.

But will the party organs be willing to have their parties held accountable by this means? Never. On the contrary, they are begging and whining from day to day for the people generously to overlook the faults and crimes of those men who, having been put into office through the party machinery, have violated their trust and robbed the public. Do not condemn the party, they implore, on account of misconduct of individuals. And this argument is pressed home upon the voters by direct appeal to every generous impulse of nature and every grateful memory of the better days of the party. If the people threaten to hold the Republican party responsible for the frauds and corruptions of its officers in the revenue service; for the infamous conduct of its carpet-baggers in the South; for the Force Bill, which the organs now agree was a most iniquitous measure, but which, nevertheless, passed the last House of Representatives by Republican votes and only failed to pass the Senate because it failed to reach a vote—which was made a test of party fealty and personal friendship by the President not only while it was before Congress but after the adjournment—if for all these and other wrongs of the party leaders the Republican party is justly to be held responsible at the ballot box, what reasons have the organs to offer why the people should vote a Republican ticket? And if the party is not to be held responsible for these things, what becomes of all the fine talk about party responsibility as a security for good conduct in office? The application of this doctrine of party responsibility to the present state of affairs would lead to the utter repudiation of Republican tickets by the voters; and the election of Republican candidates is the repudiation of the organs' doctrine.

The truth is that the rational theory of politics is for the citizen never, except in some overpowering emergency, to allow considerations of party to swerve him from the choice of the fittest man in the contest for any office that is to be filled, bearing in mind that a vicious man does not make a virtuous officer, or a dishonest man an honest officer. That principle, well observed in the selection of public servants, would make it unnecessary to hold parties responsible for it would soon reduce official misconduct and crime to the minimum. There will always be cases of misfeasance in office for officers are only mortals; but such cases would be of rare occurrence if the best mortals that were to be got, were selected for the public service, instead of those whom the political wire-pullers who run the party conventions find most useful to themselves.

RATHER TOO SENSITIVE.

The other day we noted the fact that the Pendleton Tribune was advocating the claims of Hon. J. H. Slater for the Democratic nomination for Congress, and added: "If a Democrat is to go, and the question of the back-salary business is to be left out of sight, we see no reason why Slater is not about as good as any." To this the Enterprise takes exception, and affects to consider it a great injustice to Mr. Slater, saying rather tartly that Slater has been more "persistently belied" than any other man in Oregon, and making especial complaint that "on this question of back-pay he has been charged not only by the radicals, but also by those who belong to his own party, with perpetrating an outrage and a wrong."

What the Enterprise says may be true, but it can have no application to anything the OREGONIAN has said on the subject. We expressed no opinion as to whether his conduct in connection with the salary grab was an "outrage and a wrong" or not. For all we have said concerning his connection with it, the most that could be inferred is that we have some notion that the matter is one that may affect the election. We have not intimated that we did not think Mr. Slater's taking the back-pay was, under all the circumstances, the properest thing in the world.

We have known Mr. Slater as long as we have known anybody in Oregon, and have held him in high personal esteem during our entire acquaintance with him; and we meant precisely what we said about his being in our judgment as good a candidate as the Democrats could select, if the back-salary business was to be left out of sight. We see no reason now to alter our view, and we totally disavow any unfriendly intention toward Mr. Slater, in saying so. But he took the back-pay, right or wrong. Our readers will recollect that some time ago, we published a long letter from Mr. Slater himself on the subject, in which he acknowledged that he had taken it, and gave his reasons for doing so. His own party may have "belied" him, and the "radicals," whoever they are, may have done likewise; but the OREGONIAN has never "belied" him. We said he took the back-pay, but we only said what he said first. We take the liberty of suggesting to Mr. Slater's friends whether it would not be as well not to be so very sensitive on this back-salary matter.

A Democratic exchange heads its leading article with the alarming inquiry, "Have we a Democratic party?" We should think we have twenty of them, at least, and all with

THE OBJECT OF THE RING LEADERS.

It is conceded on all hands that a Ring Republican cannot, by any possibility be elected to Congress this fall. The party managers themselves admit it. Under these circumstances if they persist in their determination to run a candidate the only possible effect it can have will be the election of the Democratic candidate. It is well known that a very large majority of the Republicans of the State are independent in sentiment, and will refuse to be bound by the mere fact that a man who asks them for their votes has received the nomination of a party convention. They insist on looking to the character and fitness of the candidate himself, and will vote for the man they believe the best qualified in all respects to represent the State. This is true also of a large element that formerly stood connected with the Democratic organization. If all those who are thus Independent would only unite upon one candidate, there is no doubt that he would be elected over the Democratic nominee by a handsome majority. The only object the ring can have in placing a candidate in the field, or, at all events, the inevitable result of such a course, will be to draw away votes from the Independent candidate, and if enough can be thus held, to defeat the Independent candidate and elect the Democratic. Such a purpose is exactly in keeping with the course of the ring managers heretofore in allying themselves with the Democratic managers in different parts of the State. It is likewise in consonance with the admission recently made by one of the ring organs, in a moment of indiscretion, that the ring managers prefer the election of a Democrat to that of an Independent. If the ring Republican leaders really wish to beat the Democracy, the plain and certain way to accomplish that end is to keep out of the way and leave an open field for the Independents, who have some show in the race.

The Evening Journal in the issues both of yesterday and of the day before, makes very pointed reference to the loss of a mail bag containing $4,000 which were being transmitted by mail. The Journal intimates that the evidence is conclusive, and promises to present the facts in full at an early day. Without knowing to whom the Journal's article points, or what may be the truth in the premises, we take the liberty of suggesting that if there has been any misfeasance of an officer, of the kind referred to, public interests as well as justice to the innocent who may be wrongfully suspected, demands the whole truth to be told. Let the disgrace and responsibility rest on the guilty, not on the innocent.

MR. LOTAN'S EVIDENCE.

The Oregon City Enterprise makes the following remarks concerning the testimony of Mr. James Lotan in the case of the explosion of the steamer Senator:

We call attention to the testimony of the boiler inspector of this district, in order to show on whom the responsibility of the explosion of the steamer Senator ought to rest. It will be observed that the testimony shows that the Senator's boiler was rated as a 54 inch, constructed of iron 2 of an inch in thickness; now Mr. Lotan says 'he don't know what the tensile strength of iron is'—that he did not know what the tensile strength of the Senator's boiler was when he inspected it and gave a certificate. But he rated it at 60,000 pounds to the inch. The book referred to in Mr. Lotan's testimony as having been compiled by the board of supervising inspectors of the United States, shows in its appropriate column that new boilers 54 inches 26 100 of an inch thick, the actual size of the Senator's, made from plates tested and stamped as required by law to 60,000 pounds were only allowed to carry 96 30-100 pounds of steam. But James Lotan perils the lives and property of our citizens by allowing an 18 year old boiler, which he says "becomes crystalized" by use and thereby loses its capacity to resist pressure to carry nearly four pounds of steam more than a new boiler.

"Did you take into consideration the age? No sir." In other words, an old rusty shell of a boiler that time and the action of water and heat had destroyed and disintegrated by 18 years of constant use is, by the gross ignorance, to say nothing of criminal responsibilities, of a government official, allowed to send a half dozen unsuspecting victims into eternity.

We think that no man who reads the testimony will fail to agree with us that his instant removal should be demanded of the party in power, before another fearful catastrophe awakens the community to a sense of its danger in the hands of such a grossly ignorant or willfully careless inspector. We have had enough of ignorance and stupidity imposed upon us as a reward for a small-ward politician's influence to perpetuate the reign of the ring.

The following questions and answers in Mr. Lotan's cross-examination will show whether the strictures of the Enterprise are just or not:

Q. What is the tensile strength of iron? A. I don't know.

Q. Well, by this table you read from the other day, you would not put it down the highest, would you? A. I think not.

Q. Where would you put it? A. 60,000 pounds.

Q. You don't know just what the tensile strength is? A. No.

Q. How did you arrive at that? A. Well, we arrived at what was allowed before that. They allowed 60,000 pounds.

Q. Under the new law, how then did you arrive at it? A. It is marked on the plates.

Q. Has this boiler any stamp on it? A. No, sir.

Q. Do you take into consideration the age? A. No, sir.

Q. Does not boiler iron, after use, become less in tensile strength? A. Yes.

Q. Becomes crystalized? A. Yes.

Q. This boiler was in use about 18 years, and you didn't know the tensile strength? A. No, sir.

Q. Did you ever run on the river any? A. No, sir.

Q. No experience? A. Not as a runner—no.

Q. Can you state how the tensile strength is estimated? A. It is tested in a testing machine.

Q. Where is that done? A. It is done where the iron is manufactured.

Q. By government inspectors, and the iron is stamped then? A. By the test it will bear—yes.

Q. You say this iron was 60,000 pounds? A. Yes—what it is allowed. I don't know that the tensile strength was even marked. There was no law at that time.

CITY.

REV. THOMAS GUARD.—An exchange, in speaking of this distinguished divine, who has recently been transferred from Baltimore and stationed at Howard street church, San Francisco, and who is expected to visit Portland soon, says: "As a thinker, Mr. Guard has few equals and no superiors in the American pulpit. He believes in, and discloses in this ministry, a beautiful harmony in science and revelation. He is a pulpit orator in America's grandest meaning of the term. His daring sweep of thought; his glowing illustrations; his impetuous and elastic declamation; his searching appeals to the conscience hold his audience spellbound. If we were asked for a description of his mind, we should say in one word that its distinguishing feature was magnificence. Its combination of elements, its amplitude of capacity and intellectual wealth, suggest to the fancy the picture of some gorgeous oriental palace, glittering with all forms of eloquence, filled with diversified treasures, surrounded by garden and grove, and sparkling fountain, the elaboration of art, and the wild loveliness of Nature.' In those lofty regions of thought his spirit spreads on unfettered wings." We understand that Mr. Guard will deliver several of his most popular lectures in Portland before returning to San Francisco.

SPELTZ OR GERMAN WHEAT.—Mr. Ch. G. Cammel, who resides in the southwestern part of the city, has brought to our office a small bundle of the cereal named at the head of this article. It was grown on his lots near Robinson's Hill, and is perhaps the only sample of its kind in our State. The stalk and ear resemble somewhat the "goose wheat," but the substance of the grain is as white as ordinary wheat. Mr. H. procured the seed (a thimble full) from Germany over three years ago, and sowed it, raising about a quart the first year, three pecks the second, and this year will have fully 20 bushels, which he desires to distribute through the State. He thinks that the cereal will be very productive on Oregon soil and will yield, on good average ground with ordinary cultivation, at least 100 bushels per acre or over. We are not personally familiar with the character of speltz, but those who know inform us that it is most excellent stock feed, and when ground properly makes good flour for bread. The yield of flour, however, per bushel is much less than from ordinary wheat, it requiring about 8 bushels of speltz to make one barrel of flour. We would like to see it fully tested in Oregon soil, which will produce almost anything that will grow at all.

UNLUCKY ACCIDENT.—We learn that Mr. Albert Fulford, the well known actor, met with a severe accident some days ago. While on the way from Coos bay to Roseburg, the team ran away. Mr. Fulford was driving at the time, and in his efforts to check the animals he was thrown out of the wagon and dragged for some distance by the lines. At length he was knocked senseless and the team escaped, and running some distance fell over a steep bank. Wagon and horses all came down in a heap at the bottom of the ravine. It is strange to say the former was not broke or damaged and the latter escaped uninjured. Mr. Fulford was insensible for some time, but was at length restored to consciousness. No bones were broken and no serious internal injuries sustained.

CONFERENCES.—In speaking of the near approach of the Methodist conferences, the P. C. Advocate says: "The East Oregon and Washington conference will convene at the Dalles on Thursday, the 29th inst., and the Oregon conference at Salem, August 11th, Bishop Peck presiding at each. Within the bounds of the two conferences we have at least 200 ministers, local and traveling, and about 8,000 members. These annual sessions, therefore, when ministers and laymen come together from the remotest portions of our State and Territory to review the doings of another year, and strengthen each other's hearts and purposes for future toils and triumphs, are seasons of no ordinary interest and importance."

BARK RIVAL.—This bark—Capt. Clement in command—arrived here yesterday morning in tow of the steamer Shoo Fly, from Astoria. The Rival was twenty-one days in making the passage from San Francisco to Portland. Calms and head winds were encountered continuously, which will account for the unusually protracted voyage. The vessel crossed the bar at 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, and reached here at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. She brought 700 tons of assorted cargo, which is being discharged on Flanders' wharf. In a few days all the cargo will be discharged, and the Rival next Monday will go down to Knappton, when a load of lumber will be taken on board for San Francisco.

PASSENGER LIST.—Last evening at 7 o'clock the steamer Ajax sailed for San Francisco, carrying hence the following passengers: S. E. Bates, Selim Woodworth, A L Pritchard and wife, Mrs. N. R. Packard and two children, J. L. Henderson, M G Isaacs, Dr. Mauzey, W. M. Baker, Geo. Helm, G. W. Snell, Geo. Shepard, wife and sister, J. H. Neppach, David Fleischman, D L Walter, G. F. Settlemier, H. C. Lose, J. Newell, Julius Ordmay, S. F. Cosgrove, wife and three children, Dan Holton, E. Greenbaum, James Wilson, —— Chutz and wife, Mrs. M. G. Wheeler, and 10 in the steerage.

THUNDER-STORM.—By the O. S. N. Co.'s telegraph line we learn that a terrific thunder-storm passed over Walla Walla on Wednesday evening. The lightning was playing about so lively that the telegraphic operators at Walla Walla, Wallula and Umatilla got a little alarmed and cut all their instruments from the tables to prevent unpleasant consequences. For several hours the rain fell in torrents. When the celestial artillery ceased its explosions the clouds cleared away and a great calm followed. No damage was done by the storm.

INVITATION ACCEPTED.—Last evening, by invitation of Multnomah Fire Company, the Great Council, I. O. R. M., visited that company's new house. During their brief stay the invited guests were hospitably treated by the members and a sociable time was the result. Mr. Jos. Buchtman, president of the company, Chief Engineer Hallock, Foreman Skidmore, and delegates Cimborsky, Sachs, Campbell, Byers, Fondray, Shaw and others, of the Great Council, made brief remarks in response to calls, and the time though short, passed very pleasantly indeed.

WILL CANVASS.—The committee appointed by the Turn Verein to canvass the city for subscriptions will commence work to-day. Each subscriber will be presented with documents, so that the money donated by liberal minded persons will be returned to them in good time. The committee will no doubt meet with success, once their plan of working is made known. The money collected will be applied to the fund for building purposes.

VESSEL PASSED.—Capt. Clements, of the bark Rival, informs us that while out from San Francisco, bound for Portland, he passed on the 4th of July, the bark Penang. The vessels passed near each other but neither spoke. The Penang was here last year. She came from Newcastle, N. S. W., and when seen by the Rival, was on the way to San Francisco.

REQUESTED TO MEET.—The committee lately appointed by several churches to arrange affairs for a union festival will please meet at the rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, this evening, at 8 o'clock, sharp. Members of committees will please bear in mind that every one should be present.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, July 22, 1875:

We never saw more promising crops of grain and grass than we met with on that day. Some of the finest farms in Oregon are to be found in the locality mentioned.

DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

Pursuant to announcement, the various delegates chosen, last Saturday evening in each of the respective precincts of the county by the Democratic voters, met yesterday afternoon at the court-house, the object being to select nine persons to represent Multnomah county in the Democratic State convention, which will convene at Salem on the 29th instant.

At 2 o'clock the convention was called to order by W. F. Trimble, chairman of the Democratic county central committee, who, after stating the object of the meeting, said the first thing in order would be the permanent organization of the convention by the election of officers.

G. L. Curry moved that Judge Wm. Strong be chosen as chairman.

Judge Page moved that Geo. L. Curry act as chairman. Mr. Curry, however, positively declined to serve.

On putting the vote, Judge Strong was unanimously chosen.

Judge Strong, after thanking the convention for the honor conferred, stated that the election of a secretary and assistant would be next in order.

Mr. B. L. Norden moved that A. M. Snyder act as secretary of the convention, and Mr. Page moved that Shubrick Norris act as assistant. On putting the vote, both gentlemen were elected without a dissenting voice.

Mr. Trimble moved that a committee of five persons be appointed by the chair to examine and report upon the credentials of the delegates in attendance.

The motion prevailed, and the chairman appointed the following persons to act as such committee: W. F. Trimble, J. S. M. Van Cleave, John Catlin, B. L. Norden, and J. M. Gearin.

On motion, the convention took a short recess to enable the committee on credentials to prepare their report. The

On motion the report of the committee was adopted.

Mr. Page moved that the convention proceed to the election of nine delegates to attend the State convention, one at a time.

The motion was duly seconded and warmly debated at some length by several members of the convention.

A motion made by J. S. M. VanCleave, to lay on the table Mr. Page's motion, was carried at length.

John Catlin moved that the convention proceed to the election of delegates by ballot—those receiving the highest number of votes, and a majority of the whole number of delegates, to be declared elected.

Mr. Atwater moved to amend by considering the first ballot informal. Motion was lost.

Mr. Catlin's motion was then put and carried.

J. J. Meagher offered a resolution to the effect that the convention should not vote for any delegate who would not pledge himself to attend in person the Democratic State convention to meet at Salem on the 29th inst.

After considerable debate the resolution was laid on the table.

B. L. Norden and John Catlin were appointed tellers, and the convention proceeded to the selection of delegates.

The following persons were chosen as delegates to attend the State convention; Geo. L. Curry, E. A. Cronin, Jos. R. Wiley, Shubrick Norris, J. S. M. VanCleave, W. F. Trimble, Moses Seller, M. J. Gleason, W. J. Kelly.

On motion, H. J. McIntire was elected to fill a vacancy in the county central committee.

On motion the convention adjourned sine die.

A Double Danger Averted.

The inhabitant of a malarious region is threatened by a double danger. He is not only compelled to breathe miasma, but to swallow it, since it infects not only the atmosphere, but the water. The aerial poison threatens his system through the lungs and pores, the liquid through the stomach. Against this double peril there is but one protection, and that is to invigorate the entire body through the digestive and secretive organs. Ordinary tonics usually fail to accomplish this—Hostetter's Stomach Bitters never. In the tropics, where the diseases originated by malaria are of a far more malignant type than those originated by the same cause in the temperate zone, it enjoys immense and constantly increasing sales, and there is no portion of this continent where it is not the reigning specific for miasmatic fevers and disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, proceeding from malaria and other causes.

A QUEER MATRIMONIAL BARGAIN

[From the Atlanta (Ga) Constitution June 30]

Some months ago a young man and his wife reached Atlanta from their old home in Maryland, intending to cast their lot among our people Not succeeding in finding employment the husband made up his mind to try his fortune in the Black Hills, and so told his wife She objected most strenuously with tears and lamentations and begged him to desist, but he argued the case so earnestly to her that she finally yielded to his plans After it was settled that the parting should be had it was agreed that the stipulations should be reduced to writing An attorney of this city was accordingly visited and a singular document drawn up I was made as mutual bond between them to keep before each their respective duties The terms were synopsis as follows

1 He is to be absent not more than two years whether good or ill fortune betide him, unless by unavoidable causes

2 The wife is to return to her home in Maryland and maintain herself from the proceeds of her own services to her family and the rents of a piece of property belonging to her husband

3 The property of the husband is conveyed to the wife in a separate deed of gift and in case of death to revert to the husband, in event of his death before his return to be subject to her disposal

4 Should their separation exceed the time of the statutory laws of the States where each may be living wherein an application for divorce on account of desertion or failure to support to be made neither is to take advantage of the fact

5 He, if successful, is to remit to his wife all the money over and above his needs at stated intervals, to keep up its regular correspondence as the mails will allow and return at the earliest possible time upon the imperative summons of his wife she also to go to him under similar circumstances

The agreement was signed in triplicate and duly witnessed Each of the parties took a copy, and the original remains in the hands of their attorney as its custodian On Wednesday all their matters being arranged the husband divided then little stock of money, giving his wife one half He also purchased a ticket for her to Baltimore, and she left for her home The parting between the couple was of a very distressing character He left on Thursday for Sioux City, hoping from there to reach the Black Hills

A CLERICAL CARD PLAYER.—An English writer tells the following story A west of England clergyman was playing a hand of whist with a few friends when a woman rushed into the room exclaiming Oh, sir Mary Jones is dyin', and she can't read her title clear, sir, at all' She's got doubts and fears, sir and she thinks she sees evil sperrets sir ' At this the parson refused to go but the ladies all said "Oh, poor Mary! now do go" So he dismissed the messenger and said that he would be there presently attempting to play out his hand of cards But an old maid, who really did have to do what some swell curates call ' pawish wewk,' took away his cards and assured him that no one should look at them if he would but go at once and after swallowing a couple more glasses of wine he started to Mary Jones' Calling up the rickety stairs—he did not attempt to ascend—he said sharply, Now Mary, what's the matter?" A feeble voice from above whined "Goin' home fast sir" The parson rejoined, Well, I can't help that which showed truthfulness and candor on his part I fancies I sees summut sir' The parson tapped his forehead and then rose to the occasion Have'e said I believe 'Mary?" Answer, "Yessir' Have e said 'Our Father?' Answer, Yessir Then," said the divine triumphantly, ' you can tell the devil to go about his business ' and he went back to his cards, his claret, and his company

MOTHER GONE!—How sad is this yet how often repeated in every day experience Three little golden heads at an upper window and a long line of carriages in the street below Nurse holds baby up who laughs and claps his little dimpled hands as his eye is caught by the nodding plumes on the hearse and presently the procession moves down the street and mother has gone away forever! The men from the undertaker's remove the traces of the funeral the parlors are in their wonted order except perhaps the curtains are not looped as gracefully, the furniture is not disposed as tastefully, and the little ornaments and bijouterie are not in their accustomed places In mother's room there's a chill and a prim air about everything different from its usual look of cozy comfort A bright June sunlight is gleaming through the half opened blinds but it does not seem to give warmth or cheer The toys are brought out, but the children soon tire of them There's something gone—they scarce realize what By and by baby begins to fret, and nurse gets cross Poor little darling! mamma's pet! how tenderly she would have soothed him with soft lullabys! And then papa comes home and gathers the little flock around his knee and tries to tell them something of the beautiful home to which mamma has gone, but they want her sadly here they cannot think why the Good Father should want her so much more

Commodore Vanderbilt recently remarked to a New York reporter I was thirty years old, I had been working for several years for my employer at $1,000 a year and when I left him I had not more than $20 000 all told Now, that's the way to start out in life Young men of America, here is a pattern for you, go thou and do likewise

In many respects our local money market may be said to be in a more satisfactory condition for the beginning of the fall trade than it has been for two or three years past The terms upon which monetary favors are granted are much better for those engaged in trade than they have been heretofore and with the full supply of available funds held on this coast no difficulty is apprehended in getting prime paper will be [illegible] taken at [illegible] Demands for loans upon real estate security have shown but little activity [illegible] a greater amount of business in that direction has been small for the reason compared with the volume of commercial transactions generally

The recent extensive excitement in the wheat market has affected financial matters but little in our locality as the transactions occurring have necessarily been limited by the small quantity of the cereal of the old crop yet in our State and the fact that no contracts have been or could well be made concerning the new crop Buyers at current rates do not seem inclined to speculate on the market further ahead than about three weeks from this date Producers are also now busily engaged in the early harvesting and do not spare time to run the market by their presence The outlook at present is that when the business of the harvest year once sets in it will soon assume a briskness which has not characterized operations in our State before.

Home Produce Market

WHEAT—Private telegrams received from San Francisco early this forenoon quote that market at $2 15@ [illegible] per cental which apparently justifies the nominal quotations of $1 80 given us to-day That $1 80 would be paid here we are not positive but $1 [illegible] has been offered for a round lot Advices by telegraph from east of the Rocky mountains indicate a wonderful movement toward the Atlantic seaboard one million bushels having been sold in New York alone in one day The rise in the English market is caused by the unfavorable crop reports throughout Europe together with the present short stocks in the principal grain centers of that country California also carries over rather a less quantity than usual her stock on the 1st of July as reported by the San Francisco Board of Trade being 434 [illegible]20 bushels wheat and only 24 744 barrels flour All these circumstances combined seem enough to have caused the present excitement in the market, which is by no means confined to Oregon or the Pacific coast but extends every where Whatever way it terminates, we believe that producers will be in a much better condition than it found them for though there may be a decline from present current rates, there is nothing to indicate that it will at any time during the coming harvest year touch the extremely low figures which ruled a greater portion of the time since the crop of 1874 was harvested.

FLOUR—There is a pretty full stock in this market at present and without prices are very firm at $5 50 ℔ bbl for all leading brands outside brands being quotable [illegible] lower and superfine at $4 [illegible] There is some talk of another advance of 50c per bbl but sales were made to day at $5 50 The latest San Francisco quotations show a rising market in sympathy with wheat, and it would not be surprising were our next quotations for the home market to be $6 The shipments to day by steamer were 3 [illegible] sacks

OATS—There is less excitement in this cereal than prevailed earlier in the week and it is now too late in the season and the surplus of the old crop too nearly exhausted to get up much feeling The demand is fair and jobbers and shippers quietly take the few lots that offer at 6[illegible]@70c ℔ bushel

HAY—A full supply in the market, quotable at $10@11 ℔ ton for fair to best timothy loose and $11 baled

POTATOES—The market is in fair supply at [illegible] $1 ℔ bushel

ONIONS—There are but few lots in the market quotable at [illegible] ℔ ℔ nominally

APPLES DRIED—The demand is hardly so active and receipts have somewhat fallen off The out going steamer to day carried none Quotations are nominal at 7½@8c ℔ ℔

BACON—The demand at San Francisco is reported dull We quote our home market quiet at 11@12c ℔ ℔ for sides 8@9c for shoulders and 11 [illegible]@1[illegible]c for hams All kinds in fair supply

EGGS—There has been a continued fair demand for the local trade and for shipment Prices are kept at 27½@30 cents per dozen fresh laid commanding the latter figure quite readily

LARD—Good Oregon made is worth 16c ℔ ℔ in kegs or tins and is in brisk demand

BUTTER—We quote fair to choice roll at [illegible] ℔ ℔, extra print for table use [illegible] common solid 16@20c.

CHICKENS—The market is in liberal supply quotations for full grown $4 25@4 50 per dozen spring $2 50@2 [illegible]

BEEF CATTLE—Some very fine arrivals have been noticed during the week and the market is supplied with an excellent stock Slaughterers prices are $3 75@4 25 per cwt neat or [illegible] on foot

MUTTON SHEEP—The demand is light at $[illegible] a2 [illegible] per head

DRESSED HOGS—There is some inquiry for the local trade at 6[illegible]@6¾c ℔ ℔

HIDES AND FURS—Prices for hides are still down on account of the many damaged lots reaching the market. Undamaged are quoted at [illegible] ℔ ℔ for dry beef hides [illegible] for green calfs 8a10c elk 18a20c ℔ ℔, deer 18a35c ℔ ℔ dried and [illegible] 70c a piece green mink skins each $1 [illegible] otter $1[illegible] beaver 7[illegible]

WOOL—There has been some decline in the movement though several large lots have arrived during the past week Nothing has transpired to change the quotations of 23@25 cts ℔ ℔ for fair valley wool and [illegible]@22c for that from east of the mountains The Commercial Herald says The shipments of wool eastward both by sea and land have thus far in the season been of considerable magnitude resulting in reducing the stock of all kinds in San Francisco to about 1 [illegible]50 000 lbs out of a year's production of 2[illegible]00 000 lbs There is now very little Oregon wool obtainable as the bulk of the clip is controlled by two or three parties who prefer to ship the same East for their own account.
